CHRISTMAS SALES PROPOSE A FINE WE'RE VERY LARGE THROUGH TRAIN

Gettysburg Merchants Report Clos. Through Train from Chicago to Baltimore to be Known as Battle- field Special is Proposed for Next Spring.

Traditional Christmas weather greeted the holiday shopper today, the last before the big festival and for the first time this winter sleighs appeared on the streets of town. With evergreens and holly on all sides, hurrying people well laden with bundles, burdened mail carriers and brightly trimmed windows the town presented a "really truly" Christmas atmosphere.

The past ten days have been prosperous ones for the business people of the town and county. Advice to "do your shopping early" had very little effect this year and everyone put it off to the last minute. Saturday, as a consequence, was a record breaker and all the stores were crowded from early in the afternoon until late in the evening. One Gettysburg merchant said, "In all the years I have been in business here my cash sales were never so large as those of Saturday." Others reported similar prosperity.

But there were plenty who did not finish their Christmas buying on Saturday and these spent busy hours Monday while the snowfall failed to hinder those who had waited until today to get their gifts.

Stores this year presented an unusually attractive line of holiday goods and they compared most favorably with those of the larger towns in nearby counties, according to persons who have been there. The Christmas trade is said to be ahead of any year past and it is due in part to the "shop at home" idea which local people have found more than ever before to be the best policy.

So much for the commercial side of the holiday season. The churches of the town will celebrate Christmas according to the schedule announced last week and the little ones are busy preparing for their speeches and songs before admiring friends. Most of the churches have Christmas decorations and well trimmed trees form a part of the display at many places. Starting in several churches this evening the religious observance continues with a midnight service in the Episcopal church, a dawn service at six o'clock Christmas morning in several of the town churches and other exercises during the day and evening.

Family gatherings in Gettysburg will be as numerous as ever, every train bringing in returning members of various town families. All the Gettysburg boys and girls away attending school and many of those engaged in business or teaching at other towns make it a point to be here during Christmas week and it is a big home coming time.

The Christmas dinner will perform its functions as a part of the day's celebration and the pantries of the town and county contain the best of everything that's good to eat from turkey to plum pudding and from sauerkraut to cranberry sauce.

TO HOLD INSTITUTE

County Teachers to Meet at East Berlin Next Month.

MEASLES APPEAR PERSONAL NOTES IN MANY HOMES AND BRIEF ITEMS

Gettysburg Children Ill with Measles. A Number of Cases Appear. Houses Quarantined and Patients in Darkened Rooms.

Many of the little tots of Gettysburg will spend Christmas in bed as the result of the arrival in town of a well defined crop of measles which has attacked not a few homes.

The first cases appeared on Sunday, and on Monday the physicians found a number little ones with the typical measles rash and all other symptoms pointing to the presence of the disease. The unhappy little ones were ordered to bed and the houses tagged, the customary quarantine being in force.

Eight houses in town bear the cards and on Sunday and Monday nine cases were returned to Dr. Henry Stewart, secretary of the local Board of Health. There has been no epidemic of measles here for several years but the last one occurred just about this time and the cases were numerous.

The closing of the schools over the Christmas holidays will help, it is thought, to prevent a wide-spread contagion this year.

Darkened rooms and the restricted measles diet are keeping the little ones considerably shy of the much talked of Christmas spirit and Santa Claus will have a busy time making the day bright for the uncomfortable little patients.

PRAISES EDDIE

Eddie Plank's Base Ball Record Subject for Praise.

Discussing veteran base ball pitchers, a dispatch from New York says:

"There may never be another Cy Young, as was loudly acclaimed when that grand old veteran sought the comfort of his farm after twenty-four years of service on the mound, but the American League has a twirler who is still very active today and who for length of years and excellence of service is worthy of considerable notice. Eddie Plank, the Athletics' wonderful southpaw, is the hurler in question. He has just completed his twelfth year under Connie Mack, making the best record of his baseball career.

To tie the wonderful record made by old Cy Young, Plank would have to remain in service another decade and pitch more than 400 games, which appears to be afeat impossible for a man of Plank's age to accomplish.

"The Athletics' great hurler is now 38 years old, which is considered past the age when an athlete can perform such a feat, but he is good for many years of service still, and even if he should never pitch another ball, has built up a great record.

"During his 12 years on the diamond he has won 250 games and lost 143, which gives him an average of .636. This is superior to that held by Cy Young when he had finished his twelfth year."

Peach growers in our neighboring Frederick county are becoming alarmed at the prospect of again having no crop of this luscious fruit. The mild fall and comparatively warm weather to this time it is feared has forced the buds to a state which will render them extremely liable to be frozen during the later winter.

Fruit growers say the buds now are developed more than they have ever been at this time of the year. In the growing of peaches growers have always claimed that a bud which is undeveloped will stand a much greater degree of cold than one which has been forced forward by warm weather.

Last year there were few peaches in Frederick county, due to the extremely cold weather late last winter, when thermometers went from 20 to 30 degrees below zero in Frederick county. Buds at this time were not developed more than is usual, and were not nearly so far advanced as now. The only sections of Frederick county in which there were peaches, included a few protected orchards and in the extreme southern section of the county.

Local consumers always discount these stories for there never seems to be scarcity here.

TWO MEN HOLD UP A TOWN

Riot Follows Attempt to Arrest Pair at Greenwood, Del.

FRIENDS FAIL IN RESCUE

Armed Citizens Aided County and State Officers in Subduing Revelers and Their Companions.

Greenwood, Del., Dec. 23.—Defying the whole town when they ran amuck down the main streets, two young farmers of near Greenwood, brought on a riot that came near ending seriously and which called out the county and state authorities before it could be stopped.

Both of the men were placed under heavy ball and lodged in the county jail at Georgetown by State Detective Frederick Walls, despite the efforts of their friends to rescue them.

At one time more than a hundred men armed with guns and rifles stood guard over the two men, and in the general fight surrounding their capture many shots were fired and several officers badly battered up, although no one was seriously wounded.

The trouble began when the two farmers, with a party of friends, charged through the streets of the town. An effort was made to arrest them, but the town officers were driven back.

A hurried meeting of council was held, and Justice of the Peace John Gibson instructed to depuitize most of the able-bodied citizens of the town. Grabbing shotguns and rifles, the citizens closed on the revelers, and after a strenuous ten minutes, in which many of the crowd were badly used, the two disturbers were captured and taken away from their friends.

In the meantime state and county officers had been notified and a big touring car rolled in from Georgetown just at the time when friends of the imprisoned men were beginning to get ready to fight. The coming of the authorities turned the tide and the two men were hustled along between the armed guards and loaded into the car and then taken to Georgetown, where they were locked in the county jail.

GOV. OSBORNE WILL WALK

Michigan Executive Gives Away His Automobile and Horses.

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 23.—Declaring that he is through riding in automobiles and other vehicles and on horseback, and that hereafter he will walk and enjoy the beauties of nature, Governor Osborne announced that he has given away his seven passenger touring car and his beautiful Kentucky riding and driving horses to his most intimate friends.

"From now on I am going to travel and see more of the world than I have ever seen in the past," said the governor. "But I am going to enjoy the beauties of nature in my travels by walking instead of being shut up in an automobile or going so fast that it is all one can do to get his breath."

They were William McFadden and Frederick Elte. Both were brought to Baltimore and taken to the Mercy hospital, where they died at nearly the same moment.

The two young men, who had been in New Freedom, left to walk toward their homes after midnight. From the position in which the bodies were found it is supposed that the pair were struck at the same time.

He shot up the houses in the neighborhood and set fire to his mother's house, but the flames were subdued. A dozen men tried to capture him, but when they attempted to close in on him Jackson would open fire on them with his gun, and in the melee he shot and wounded six of his pursuers.

Next he went to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Eliza Wilkie, set fire to her house and burned it. Constable Carroll and a posse started again to capture Jackson, armed with guns and revolvers, and found him near where he burned the last house lying in a trench. He was in a dazed condition and was brought to Vandalia in a serious condition as a result of his burns.

Trace Smallpox to Mails.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 23.—State health department records show a total of forty-one cases of smallpox in Wayne county since the beginning of the recent outbreak. Twenty-three cases are still under quarantine. Investigation has shown that the post master at Hales Eddy, N. Y., handled the mails for two weeks after he had developed the smallpox. The carrier, who brought mail from that office down into Wayne county as far as Sherman, is now down with the disease.

Told Wife Death Was Best.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 23.—Detected in an attempt upon his life by his wife, John Beal, of 1928 Ash street, opened his room door far enough to shake hands with her and tell her not to worry, that whatever he did would be for the best, and then completed his task of suicide. Beal, who had been despondent, ended his life with gas.

TURKS AGAIN FORCE DELAY

Conference Adjourns on Demand
For Revictualling Adrianople.

THE ALLIES HOTLY OBJECT

The Debate Is Frustrated and All Must Now Send Home For New Instructions.

London, Dec. 23.—Turkey is playing the old game of delay, and has caused a further postponement of the delayed peace conference, after a brief and fruitless session.

It is evident that the Turkish delegates are trying to gain the right to provision Adrianople, by consenting to include Greece in the conference. The allies are anxious to proceed with the negotiations, and have only time that these delays must come to an end.

The last sitting was the most important since the beginning of the conference, as it was the first time the opposite parties had come into a serious engagement, which is preliminary to the crucial question over the possession of Adrianople.

The Montenegrin ex-Premier, Mihailovitch, who presided, seemed, on account of his rather severe and imperious aspect, to be the best president for the occasion of a stormy sitting. When the president asked Rechad Pasha to communicate in confidence the answer which he had received from Constantinople, there was a moment of breathless silence.

Rechad Pasha arose and outlined the instructions he had received to the effect that Turkey should not treat with Greece, as the latter state had put herself out of the negotiations by refusing to adhere to the armistice. But, he added, wishing to show a lenient spirit and a conciliatory disposition, and also out of regard for Europe, Turkey was willing to treat, on condition that the allies in return granted the privilege of revictualling Adrianople.

This, he pointed out, was simply a humanitarian request, as, besides the belligerents, more than 150,000 people were suffering from the lack of food.

Revictualling this fortress, he argued, would not change the situation as it existed when the armistice was concluded, at which time the Bulgarians declared they could seize Adrianople whenever they wished, or force Teheran to do so.

Where it is merely a delusion whether the man in question or whether he imagines that he is the center of the nationality of the people of this town, is still to be discovered.

The prosecutor will not disclose what his intentions are in the matter.

but from a leading attorney in the town, who has also been drawn into the case as counsel for one of the offended parties, who insisted on prosecution, it was learned that the method of procedure will be to call the defendant's family into consultation and see if some restraint cannot be placed upon him or if he is not amenable to treatment.

If this can be done and his relatives agree to safeguard him, as well as the public, from a repetition of these attacks it is likely that the matter will end in this way.

Some of the gravest charges were contained in some of the letters an scarcely a young married couple escaped the accusations of these epistles.

MARKET BIG TOBACCO CROP

Lancaster Farmers Getting Good Prices, Begin Deliveries to Packers.

Lancaster, Pa., Dec. 23.—Lancaster county farmers are beginning to deliver their great tobacco crop to the packing houses, which places will provide employment for hundreds of men during the winter.

Despite the damage from hail last summer it is estimated that the 1912 crop will yield Lancaster growers more than $3,000,000.

It was the general belief that if the growers would get 7 and 8 cents a pound they would be lucky, but when buying season arrived competition developed among big cigar manufacturing interests and prices for Lancaster tobacco took a big jump.

Instead of 7 and 8 cents, the farmer secured 9, 10 and 11 cents, while in a number of instances 12 cents was paid.

A big cigar company with a chain of stores all over the country was probably the heaviest purchaser, having secured upwards of 30,000 cases while one of the largest cigar manufacturers in Philadelphia bought probably 15,000 cases. Manufacturing firms in the west were also heavy purchasers.

MORE POISONED PEN LETTERS

Belvidere, N. J., Stirred by an Unknown Writer.

Belvidere, N. J., Dec. 23.—Prosecutor

the poisoned pen letters, and that official is certain that he will be able to trace the letters to their writer within the next few hours.

While he would not admit the result of his findings at this time, he has indicated that his investigation shows that the letters are probably the work of an elderly merchant, who has been regarded as irresponsible in certain matters, and who of late has exhibited signs of mental weakness.

Where it is merely a delusion with the man in question, or whether he imagines that he is the censor of the morality of the people of this town, is still to be discovered.

When the president asked Rechad Pasha to communicate in confidence the answer which he had received from Constantinople, there was a moment of breathless silence.

Rechad Pasha arose and outlined the instructions he had received to the effect that Turkey should not treat with Greece, as the latter state had put herself out of the negotiations by refusing to adhere to the armistice. But, he added, wishing to show a lenient spirit and a conciliatory disposition, and also out of regard for Europe, Turkey was willing to treat, on condition that the allies in return granted the privilege of revictualling Adrianople.

This, he pointed out, was simply a humanitarian request, as, besides the belligerents, more than 150,000 people were suffering from the lack of food. Revictualling this fortress, he argued, would not change the situation as it existed when the armistice was concluded, at which time the Bulgarians declared they could seize Adrianople whenever they wished, or force Trebizond.

Rechad Pasha's statement caused a great sensation, and the Balkan delegations exchanged impressions in whispers among themselves.

The head of the Turkish delegation continued to illustrate the Ottoman viewpoint, which aimed to limit as much as possible disasters and sufferings from the war by supplying to Adrianople what was strictly necessary to sustain life. The conference would then be able to proceed with its work in the knowledge that the town was not starving while the delegates were negotiating.

Dr. Danoff, the chief Bulgarian plenipotentiary, eloquently countered with solid arguments against Turkey's proposition. He recalled that the armistice was an accomplished fact, and was so well defined that the delegates lacked the power to change it, the mission being circumscribed to the conclusion of peace. With reference to peace, he said, there was no limit to their powers, but their credentials did not authorize them to deal with incidents either already solved or outside the mission which brought them to London.

Twice the delegates left their places and gathered in groups to see if any modus vivendi were possible between the extreme views, but in vain. Finally the Ottoman delegates proposed that the sitting be adjourned until they were able to ask for fresh instructions from the home government.

SHOT ON CROWDED STREET

Store Owner Badly Wounded by a Young Woman.

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 23.—Joseph Hoher, aged thirty years, was shot and seriously wounded by Miss Mary Butler, twenty-two years old, in the doorway of a store of which Hoher is a part owner.

The store is situated in a busy section and the shooting was witnessed by crowds of shoppers. Miss Butler was arrested as she was running away. She told the police she shot Hoher because he had ruined her life. She fired four shots at him, one of which took effect, passing through the liver and lodging somewhere in the back.

New York Not Generous to Poor. New York, Dec. 23.—New York gave about $100,000 a year to the poor a Christmas time, was the statement made by John A. He admitted that his figures are conservative, and said that he didn't believe the true figures, if they could be obtained, would run much over that.

Physician Says Wound is Painful, But Not Fatal.

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 24.—John Talason, of Tremont, while being tried in Justice C. B. Reinhold's court for carrying concealed deadly weapons, pulled a knife out of his pocket and stabbed himself between the fourth and fifth ribs.

Talason was taken to the county jail, where the physicians said that his wound, while painful, will not be fatal.

Talason wanted Miss Annie Caberson, of Tremont, to go with him to a moving picture show, and when she refused he became so insistent that the young woman's brother remonstrated with him. Talason, it is alleged, drew a revolver, which led to the charge against him.

CANARIES ARE NERVOUS.

And They Dread Mice That Like to Steal Their Bird Seed.

One of the common troubles with canaries and one that few bird owners realize is that of nervousness. The nervous system of a canary is as highly sensitive as that of a delicate woman. Any sudden shock to their senses, whether of sight or sound, is liable to throw them into convulsions, that often result in death. An old bird dealer mentions a frequent but rarely known cause of sickness and even death among the little creatures.

"I had two canaries," he said, "that for some reason I could not discover fell into a frightfully nervous state and started to pine away. I doctor them with all the remedies known to bird lore, but the poor creatures continued to drop in dismal decline. At last I discovered the trouble. It was mice."

"Mice are as fond of bird seeds as canaries themselves. In the darkness of the night the mice would creep through the bars of the cage and devour the seeds, while the poor little canaries sat above shivering themselves into a state of nervous prostration from the very terror of the monsters below. I removed the cage to a position where the mice could not get at it, and my pets rapidly recovered." —New Orleans States.

One Sin of Housekeeping.

The ultimate sin of the housekeeping code is straightening things out in a desk or on a table. When I depart from my quarters in the morning my sitting room table looks self possessed and homelike, bearing three ash trays, four or five books, matches, a pipe, a can of tobacco, papers, magazines, pencils, pens, a letter or two, a bottle of ink and maybe a necklace or so. A place for everything and everything just where it ought to be easy to reach or whereabouts. But, alas, on return what a state that table is in. The books have been put back on the shelves, the ash trays mobilized, pen and pencils arranged in orderly lines, necktie stuck away in a dresser and the letters plaited in the most conspicuous place with those containing bills uppermost.—Toledo Blade.

Pliny's Jewel Stories.

Pliny declared that a diamond was so thin that it placed on an anvil and hit with a stiletto hammer it would break a blow of such force as to pierce both anvil and hammer to pieces. Another of his wonderful tales states that on the shore of the island of Cyprus there was a stone having eyes formed of emeralds, which shone so brightly that all the fishes were ingloriously frightened away. The fishermen accordingly pulled the emerald eyes out and put in glass eyes instead, whereupon the wise fishes became bolder and returned to their accustomed nets."

His Income.

"They say you get 250 marks a month. I can't believe it. Tell me how."

"I get 110 marks salary; then I don't pay my rent, 40 marks; that's 150 marks; I owe the milkman 30 marks; that's 180 marks; my butcher 40 marks, 220 marks, and every month I raise 30 marks out of my friends, making an income of 250 marks a month!"—Fliegende Blätter.

SEEK TO OUST COLORED TROOPS

Army Officers to Consider Move at Conference.

Washington, Dec. 24.—After several days of preliminary skirmishing in accordance with the cherished traditions of Oriental diplomacy, the Turkish delegates faced the real attack of the allies at the fifth meeting of the peace conference which has as an object the settling of the war between the Balkan allies and Turkey.

The victorious allies laid their most important cards on the table. These were in the form of territorial conditions which they had agreed to impose on the Ottoman empire. The demands as set forth were:

First—the cession to Turkey of all the territory west of a line starting from a point east of Rodosto, on the Sea of Marmora, to a point in the Bay of Malatra, on the Black Sea, and excluding the peninsula of Gallipoli, Albania's straits to be decided by the powers.

Second—the cession of the Aegean Islands occupied by the Greek forces in the present war and by the Italians in the recent war.

Third—the cession to Greece of all Turkish rights in the Island of Crete.

The allies did not reveal the financial proposals which they will make to Turkey, reserving them for a future meeting.

Before the allies presented their specifications the Turks announced that their government was prepared to proceed with the negotiations, leaving the question of revictualing Adrianople for discussion between Turkey and Bulgaria. They abandoned their previous request to provision Scutari and Janina.

The formal conference lasted only a quarter of an hour. The Turks listened to the proclamation of the fate of their European empire without formal comment, and asked for an adjournment until Saturday to consider the allies' demands. In the informal conversation with the delegates, which consumed an hour, they asserted that it would be impossible for them to accept such terms, but that statement is inevitable in meetings of this character and was expected.

The allies will recognize the autonomy of Albania under the suzerainty of the Porte, but not its sovereignty. Albania will become what Crete was and what Egypt is in its relation to Turkey. The sultan will be the nominal ruler, but without political, administrative or military power. He will have the right to raise his flag in Albania and appoint a resident governor, but only for the purpose of ratifying the decisions of the local government.

VICEROY OF INDIA HURT BY BOI

Explosive Thrown From Hot Top as He Rides By.

AN ATTENDANT IS KILLED

Baron Hardinge Was Struck by a Bomb or Infernal Machine—Wife Escapes Unhurt.

Delhi, India, Dec. 24.—The vice viceroy and his wife escaped assassination by an infernal machine while making their annual entry into the imperial capital of India.

Three splinters of a powerful bomb which killed one native attendant injured another, penetrated the head and shoulders of the viceroy as he was also wounded in the neck by the screws with which the bomb was made and which passed through his body. The doctors who removed the splinters from the wound declare marvelously that the viceroy is safe.

Lady Hardinge immediately the explosion asked her husband what was hurt. The viceroy replied, "all right; go on." Lady Hardinge said: "We cannot. There is a man behind."

The elephant on which they riding halted and the viceroy stood up, but reeled and fainted the officials who assembled had difficulty in removing him.

The howdah, a box-like affair on the back, in which Baron Hardinge had been seated, blown into matchwood.

The viceroy will soon be able to leave the hospital for the vice lodge. The umbrella bearer, who killed, had acted in that capacity Lord Curzon.

The bomb thrower has not yet been caught, although several arrests have been made. A reward of 10,000 rupees (approximately $3200) has been offered for his arrest.

The police have learned that plot to assassinate Lord Hardinge hatched shortly after the Duke of Wellington moved to the cordon.

The attempt at assassination made during the procession escaped Lord and Lady Hardinge from railway station to the official residence, which has just established.</

ACCUSED MAN STABS HIMSELF IN COURT

Physician Says Wound is Painful, But Not Fatal.

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 24.—John Talason, of Tremont, while being tried in Justice C. B. Reinhold's court for carrying concealed deadly weapons, pulled a knife out of his pocket and stabbed himself between the fourth and fifth ribs.

Talason was taken to the county jail, where the physicians said that his wound, while painful, will not be fatal.

Talason wanted Miss Annie Cabornson, of Tremont, to go with him to a moving picture show, and when she refused he became so insistent that the young woman's brother remonstrated with him. Talason, it is alleged, drew a revolver, which led to the charge against him.

Suspend Initiative Rate Bill In Oregon

Portland, Ore., Dec. 24.—Oregon's first initiative rate bill was suspended temporarily by the federal court, three judges sitting. Pending a final hearing of the issue raised by the railroads, as to whether the bill is practicable and constitutional, the court held that the railroads should file bonds aggregating $55,000.

Washington, Dec. 24.—The condition of Senator Lee S. Overman, of North Carolina, who last Saturday was operated on for appendicitis at Georgetown hospital, was reported as satisfactory. Mrs. Overman is with her husband.

CANARIES ARE NERVOUS.

And They Dread Mice That Like to Steal Their Bird Seed.

One of the common troubles with canaries and one that few bird owners realize is that of nervousness. The nervous system of a canary is as highly sensitive as that of a delicate woman. Any sudden shock to their senses, whether of sight or sound, is liable to throw them into convulsions, that often result in death. An old bird dealer mentions a frequent but rarely known cause of sickness and even death among the little creatures.

"I had two canaries," he said, "that for some reason I could not discover fell into a frightfully nervous state and started to pine away. I doctored them with all the remedies known to bird lore, but the poor creatures continued to droop in dismal decline. At last I discovered the trouble. It was mice."

"Mice are as fond of bird seeds as canaries themselves. In the darkness of the night the mice would creep through the bars of the cage and devour the seeds, while the poor little canaries sat above shivering themselves into a state of nervous prostration from the very terror of the monsters below. I removed the cage to a position where the mice could not get at it, and my pets rapidly recovered." —New Orleans States.

One Sin of Housekeeping.

The ultimate sin of the housekeeping code is straitening things out in a desk or on a table. When I depart from my quarters in the morning my sitting room table looks self possessed and homelike, bearing three ash trays, four or five books, matches, a pipe, a can of tobacco, papers, magazines, pencils, pens, a letter or two, a bottle of ink and maybe a necktie or so. A place for everything and everything just where it ought to be easy to reach or whereabouts. But, alas, on return what a state that table is in. The books have been put back on the shelves, the ash trays mobilized, pen and pencils arranged in orderly lines, neckties stuck away in a dresser and the letters pinned in the most conspicuous place with those containing bills uppermost. —Toledo Blade.

Pliny's Jewel Stories.

Pliny declared that a diamond was so hard that if placed on an anvil and struck with a sledge hammer it would give back a blow of such force as to batter both anvil and hammer to pieces. Another of his wonderful tales states that "on the shore of the island of Cyprus there was a stone lion having eyes formed of emeralds, which shone so brightly that all the fishes were ingloriously frightened away. The fishermen accordingly pulled the emeralds out and put in glass eyes instead, whereupon the wise fishes became bolder and returned to their accustomed nets."

His Income.

"They say you get 250 marks a month. I can't believe it. Tell me how."

"I get 110 marks salary; then I don't pay my rent, 40 marks; that's 150 marks; I owe the milkman 30 marks, that's 180 marks; my butcher 40 marks, 220 marks, and every month I raise 30 marks out of my friends, making an income of 250 marks a month!" —Fliegende Blatter.

Strychnine?

"Say, Maria, have you noticed how this infernal cat jumps in my lap every time I sit down to read?"

"Yes. Well, I suppose the poor thing is tired."

"Well, the next time I go to the drug store I'll get something (biff!) for that tired feline." —St. Louis Post Dispatch.

ALLIES PRESENT PEACE TERMS

The Turks Ask Time to Consider Them.

MEET AGAIN ON SATURDAY

Ottoman Government Drops Revictualizing Plea and Allies Demand Surrender of Adrianople, Scutari and Janina.

London, Dec. 24.—After several days of preliminary skirmishing in accordance with the cherished traditions of Oriental diplomacy, the Turkish delegates faced the real attack of the allies at the fifth meeting of the peace conference which has as an object the settling of the war between the Balkan allies and Turkey.

The victorious allies laid their most important cards on the table. These were in the form of territorial conditions which they had agreed to impose on the Ottoman empire. The demands as set forth were:

First—the cession by Turkey of all the territory west of a line starting from a point east of Rodosto, on the Sea of Marmora, to a point in the Bay of Malatra, on the Black Sea, and excluding the peninsula of Gallipoli; Albania's status to be decided by the powers.

Second—the cession of the Aegean Islands occupied by the Greek forces in the present war and by the Italians in the recent war.

Third—the cession to Greece of all Turkish rights in the Island of Crete.

The allies did not reveal the financial proposals which they will make to Turkey, reserving them for a future meeting.

Before the allies presented their specifications the Turks announced that their government was prepared to proceed with the negotiations, leaving the question of revictualing Adrianople for discussion between Turkey and Bulgaria. They abandoned their previous request to provision Scutari and Janina.

The formal conference lasted only a quarter of an hour. The Turks listened to the proclamation of the fate of their European empire without formal comment, and asked for an adjournment until Saturday to consider the allies' demands. In the informal conversation with the delegates, which consumed an hour, they asserted that it would be impossible for them to accept such terms, but that statement is inevitable in meetings of this character and was expected.

The allies will recognize the autonomy of Albania under the suzerainty of the Porte, but not its sovereignty. Albania will become what Crete was and what Egypt is in its relation to Turkey. The sultan will be the nominal ruler, but without political, administrative or military power. He will have the right to raise his flag in Albania and appoint a resident governor, but only for the purpose of ratifying the decisions of the local government.

SLAIN IN DUEL FOR GIRL

Washington, Pa., Dec. 24.—Following a quarrel over a girl, Albert Quinn, twenty-eight years old, was shot to death by Harry Musconey in a pistol duel at West Sellersville.

According to the authorities, the two men, with the approval of the girl's father, decided to "fight it out" for the hand of the girl. Intense feeling was aroused by the shooting, and a posse started in pursuit of Musconey.

INDICT THREE IN NEW HAVEN CASE

Are Charged With Violating the Anti-Trust Law.

STORY OF SECRET MEETING

Mellen, Chamberlain and Smithers Accused of Engaging in Unlawful Combination.

New York, Dec. 24.—Charles S. Mellen, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad; E. J. Chamberlin, president of the Grand Trunk railway, of Canada, and Alfred W. Smithers, chairman of the Grand Trunk board of directors, were indicted by the federal grand jury here.

They are charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust law in the alleged monopoly agreement recently entered into by the two roads, which resulted in the Grand Trunk suspending work of constructing a railroad in New England.

The indictment avers that Mellen, Chamberlin and Smithers engaged in an unlawful combination to prevent the construction and completion of certain extensions of the Grand Trunk railway into New England.

It is also charged that they conspired to prevent the operation of steamships between Providence and New York and transportation of persons and property in interstate and foreign commerce over these lines of railroads and steamships.

Seven overt acts are alleged by the government. It is charged that the defendants met in New York Aug. 5, 1912, and discussed a memorandum theretofore exchanged between Chamberlin and Mellen, which provided that the Grand Trunk should sell the New Haven system all its interest in the Central Railroad of Vermont and its subsidiaries, which would include all the proposed extensions into New England.

The second overt act alleged embraces a charge that Chamberlin wrote to J. E. Dalrymple, vice president of the Grand Trunk, saying that he and Smithers had a satisfactory interview with Mellen, and it was agreed that Dalrymple and Benjamin Campbell, of the New Haven, should meet quietly in Mellen's offices and discuss new divisions of New England business.

The third and fourth acts were that the defendants held further meetings in New York city on Sept. 20 and Oct. 1; the fifth that at the last mentioned meeting Mellen initiated and gave to the co-defendants a memorandum of the agreement providing, among other things, that the Grand Trunk is "to retain the Central Vermont and the existing controlled lines and continue its existing business as at present."

The sixth overt act alleged is that Mellen caused the withdrawal of a petition asking authority to extend one of the New Haven lines paralleling and competing with a portion of the Central Vermont.

The seventh overt act was that on Nov. 9 Chamberlin caused the work of constructing a line from Palmer, Mass., to Providence, R. I., to be abandoned.

The railroad situation in New England was brought to the attention of the federal department of justice first by officials of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, who called Nov. 19 on President Taft and Attorney General M. L. Harlan, pointed out that the individual states were unable to cope with the situation and asked the federal government to act.

Trainmen, it is declared, "steer" them into the hands of willing cabin men who have a selected list of preachers willing to tie knots quickly.

The fees, it is alleged, are divided between all those who have had a hand in helping Cupid.

The Turks Ask Time to Consider Them.

MEET AGAIN ON SATURDAY

Ottoman Government Drops Revivalizing Plea and Allies Demand Surrender of Adrianople, Scutari and Janina.

London, Dec. 24.—After several days of preliminary skirmishing in accordance with the cherished traditions of Oriental diplomacy, the Turkish delegates faced the real attack on the allies at the fifth meeting of the peace conference which has as its object the settling of the war between the Balkan allies and Turkey.

The victorious allies laid their most important cards on the table. These were in the form of territorial conditions which they had agreed to impose on the Ottoman empire. The demands as set forth were:

First—the cession by Turkey of all the territory west of a line starting from a point east of Rodosto, on the Sea of Marmora, to a point in the Bay of Malatra, on the Black Sea, and excluding the peninsula of Gallipoli, Albania's straits to be decided by the powers.

Second—the cession of the Aegean Islands occupied by the Greek forces in the present war and by the Italians in the recent war.

Third—the cession to Greece of all Turkish rights in the Island of Crete.

The allies did not reveal the financial proposals which they will make to Turkey, reserving them for a future meeting.

Before the allies presented their specifications the Turks announced that their government was prepared to proceed with the negotiations, leaving the question of reviving Adrianople for discussion between Turkey and Bulgaria. They abandoned their previous request to provision Scutari and Janina.

The formal conference lasted only a quarter of an hour. The Turks listened to the proclamation of the fate of their European empire without formal comment, and asked for an adjournment until Saturday to consider the allies' demands. In the informal conversation with the delegates, which consumed an hour, they asserted that it would be impossible for them to accept such terms, but that statement is inevitable in meetings of this character and was expected.

The allies will recognize the autonomy of Albania under the suzerainty of the Porte, but not its sovereignty. Albania will become what Crete was and what Egypt is in its relation to Turkey. The sultan will be the nominal ruler, but without political, administrative or military power. He will have the right to raise his flag in Albania and appoint a resident governor, but only for the purpose of ratifying the decisions of the local government.

It is believed that the program for an extra session will be the topic for consideration.

INDICT THREE IN NEW HAVEN CASE

Are Charged With Violating the
Anti-Trust Law.

STORY OF SECRET MEETING

Mellen, Chamberlain and Smithers Accused of Engaging in Unlawful Combination.

New York, Dec. 24.—Charles S. Mellen, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad; E. J. Chamberlin, president of the Grand Trunk railway, of Canada, and Alfred W. Smithers, chairman of the Grand Trunk board of directors, were indicted by the federal grand jury here.

They are charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust law in the alleged monopoly agreement recently entered into by the two roads, which resulted in the Grand Trunk suspending work of constructing a railroad in New England.

The indictment avers that Mellen, Chamberlin and Smithers engaged in an unlawful combination to prevent the construction and completion of certain extensions of the Grand Trunk railway into New England.

It is also charged that they conspired to prevent the operation of steamships between Providence and New York and transportation of persons and property in interstate and foreign commerce over these lines of railroads and steamships.

Seven overt acts are alleged by the government. It is charged that the defendants met in New York Aug. 5, 1912, and discussed a memorandum theretofore exchanged between Chamberlin and Mellen, which provided that the Grand Trunk should sell the New Haven system all its interest in the Central Railroad of Vermont and its subsidiaries, which would include all the proposed extensions into New England.

The second overt act alleged embraces a charge that Chamberlin wrote to J. E. Dalrymple, vice president of the Grand Trunk, saying that he and Smithers had a satisfactory interview with Mellen, and it was agreed that Dalrymple and Benjamin Campbell, of the New Haven, should meet quietly in Mellen's offices and discuss new divisions of New England business.

The third and fourth acts were that the defendants held further meetings in New York city on Sept. 20 and Oct. 1; the fifth that at the last mentioned meeting Mellen initiated and gave to the co-defendants a memorandum of the agreement providing among other things, that the Grand Trunk is "to retain the Central Vermont and the existing controlled lines and continue its existing business as at present."

The sixth overt act alleged is that Mellen caused the withdrawal of a petition asking authority to extend one of the New Haven lines paralleling and competing with a portion of the Central Vermont.

The seventh overt act was that on Nov. 9 Chamberlin caused the work of constructing a line from Palmer, Mass., to Providence, R. I., to be abandoned.

The railroad situation in New England was brought to the attention of the federal department of justice first by officials of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, who called Nov. 19 on President Taft and Attorney General M. L. Harlan, pointed out that the individual states were unable to cope with the situation and asked the federal government to act.

They were returning from their night's work at the Rockland paper mill when they saw the blaze. Mrs. Jones and her children were soon asleep and were rescued with difficulty. The house was a total loss.

VICEROY OF INDIA HURT BY BOMB

Explosive Thrown From House-top as He Rides By.

N ATTENDANT IS KILLED

Baron Hardinge Was Struck by Fragments of Infernal Machine — His Wife Escapes Unhurt.

Delhi, India, Dec. 24.—The viceroy and vicerine of India, Baron Hardinge and Lady Hardinge, narrowly escaped assassination by a native fanatic while making their ceremonial entry into Delhi, the new imperial capital of India.

Three splinters of a powerful bomb which killed one native attendant and injured another, penetrated the back and shoulders of the viceroy and he was also wounded in the neck by therews with which the bomb was filled and which passed through his helmet. The doctors who removed the metal splinters from the wound declared it marvellous that the viceroy escaped fatal injuries.

Lady Hardinge immediately after the explosion asked her husband if he was hurt. The viceroy replied: "I am right; go on." Lady Hardinge then said: "We cannot. There is a dead man behind."

The elephant on which they were being halted and the viceroy tried to get up, but reeled and fainted and the officials who assembled had much difficulty in removing him.

The howdah, a box-like affair on the elephant's back, in which Baron and Lady Hardinge had been seated, was thrown into matchwood.

The viceroy will soon be able to leave the hospital for the viceregal residence. The umbrella bearer, who was killed, had acted in that capacity for Lord Curzon.

The bomb thrower has not yet been caught, although several arrests were made. A reward of 10,000 rupees (approximately $300) has been offered for his arrest.

The police have learned that the plot to assassinate Lord Hardinge was hatched shortly after the Durbar, when King George moved the capital to Delhi.

The attempt at assassination was made during the procession escorting Lord and Lady Hardinge from the railway station to the official vice-regal residence, which has just been established. A man believed to be a member of the Indian nationalist secret committee threw the bomb from a busstop just as the equipage was passing through Chandni Chowk.

The bomb struck the edge of the brilliantly caparisoned howdah in which Lord and Lady Hardinge were seated. Immediately the infernal machine exploded with a loud roar which drew the procession into confusion. The trumpeting of the frightened elephants, mingled with the shouts of the soldiers and natives, as several sepoys rushed into the house from the roof which the bomb had been hurled.

Lord Hardinge fell to the bottom of the howdah with the blood streaming from his shoulder.

The ceremonies were interrupted only a short period while the viceroy and vicerine were being conveyed to the hospital and vice regal residence respectively.

Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson, financial member of the council of the governor general of India, took the viceroy's place in the procession, which then proceeded on its way through the new imperial city to the Durbar camp, where a great number of rajahs and other Indian chieftains were assembled.

Sir Guy then took up his position in front of the vice regal dais and read a dispatch from Lord Hardinge, stating that he was only slightly injured. The reading of the message was received with prolonged cheering.

Falling Christmas Tree Kills Man. Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 24.—Charles Hirsch, of St. Clair, died at the Pottsville hospital from a broken back, caused by a Christmas tree falling on him. The tree he was cutting took a circular course in falling, swinging round as if on a pivot and pinned Hirsch to the earth.

22 DROWN IN WRECK OF SHIP

Freight Steamer Goes Down Off Cape Race.

FOUNDED IN A STORM

The Mate and Four Sailors Were Saved After Being Adrift Two Days
In a Boat.

Montreal, Dec. 23.—The Furness freight liner Florence was wrecked near Cape Race on Friday morning and twenty-two sailors, including the captain, were drowned.

The Florence was bound from Halifax to St. Johns, N. F., and after touching there was to have proceeded to Liverpool. She put out from Halifax in rough weather and had sprung a leak before nearing Cape Race, taking enough water to cause her to labor in the heavy seas encountered, but no danger was anticipated. Captain Barr being of the opinion, so the survivors state, that on St. Johns being reached the damage could be speedily repaired.

The Florence was bound from Halifax to St. Johns, N. F., and after touching there was to have proceeded to Liverpool. She put out from Halifax in rough weather and had sprung a leak before nearing Cape Race, taking enough water to cause her to labor in the heavy seas encountered, but no danger was anticipated. Captain Barr being of the opinion, so the survivors state, that on St. Johns being reached the damage could be speedily repaired.

Early Friday morning the water in the holds gained steadily in spite of all the pumps could do, and finally the water made such headway that it was seen that the vessel could not last much longer, and Captain Barr ordered the lifeboats to be lowered after being fully provisioned.

One lifeboat was launched, in which were the second mate and four other sailors. The second mate noticed an enormous wave coming and cast adrift just in time to avoid being pooped, after which he was driven by the force of the storm away from the vessel.

The wave in question broke right over the Florence, sweeping her from stem to stern, and the survivors think some must have been washed overboard, for they distinctly heard a loud cry above the raging of the storm.

No attempt was made as far as they could see to launch a second boat, but the Florence rapidly settled, and within half an hour foundered. The boat with the survivors was kept head-on to the wind and sea, the men in her remaining adrift for two days, but with little idea as to their whereabouts.

Sunday morning they were sighted by chance by a small steamer bound for St. Johns and were brought to that port in an exhausted condition and taken to the Montreal hospital, where every attention is being paid them.

JACK JOHNSON BUYS HOME

$30,000 Property In Exclusive Colony
Pugilist's Present to Wife.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Jack Johnson, the colored champion heavy-weight pugilist, who is at liberty on a $30,000 bond on a charge of violating the federal white slave act, purchased as a Christmas present for his white wife, formerly Lucille Cameron, a home in the heart of the exclusive Lake Geneva summer resort.

Nearly all the houses in the neighborhood are owned by Chicago millionaires. The property was purchased from Judson E. Sherman, a grain dealer, it is said. The price was $30,000. It has a frontage of 125 feet on the lake.

HURT CRANKING AUTO

Machine Drags Woman Across Street and Crashes Into Another.

Chester, Pa., Dec. 23.—Mrs. Stacy G. Glaser, wife of a prominent merchant, was cranking her automobile when the machine started, dragging her across the street.

Her outer clothing was torn off and she was in a semi-conscious condition when picked up. Mrs. Glaser sustained numerous bruises and contusions, and it is feared she is injured internally.

The runaway machine collided with another automobile, and both were crushed.

Earthquake at Messina.

Messina, Dec. 23.—There was a violent earthquake here and at Reggio di Calabria. The people are panic stricken and are camping outdoors. The shock was very severe at Reggio, which if it had been rebuilt after the last great earthquake would probably be now in ruins, but the inhabitants are still living in the temporary wooden huts and were uninjured.

Steel Mills at Capacity.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 23.—The iron and steel mills of this city and Steelton will have unusually busy times this winter, according to predictions made at the offices. Some of the mills will stop only on Christmas day this week. At Steelton the works will run at capacity during the next two months at least.

Man, 110, Killed by Tree.

Louisville, Miss., Dec. 23.—William Hamilton Brown, who was 110 years of age, and as spry as a man of fifty, was killed at his home when a giant tree which he was cutting down fell on him, breaking his back.

Gives New York Park Employees
$5 Each For Xmas Gift.

MRS. SAGE PLAYS SANTA

Gives Gold Pieces to Men Who Take Care of Central Park.

New York, Dec. 12.—The eve of Christmas week brought good cheer to several hundred men who take care of lawns, paths and shrubbery in Central Park.

Mrs. Russell Sage drove up to the arsenal and delivered to Park Commissioner Stover a box holding 327 envelopes, each containing a $5 gold piece, one for every park employee whose pay does not exceed $2 a day.
Mrs. Sage has made similar gifts for several years.

PAY $2,000,000
TODAY TO WORKMEN

Pittsburgh Men Urged to Keep Away From Saloons.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 23.—Merchants in the Monongahela and Turtle Creek valleys and in Pittsburgh are preparing for an enormous Christmas business today and tomorrow, because today is the fortnightly pay day at the United States Steel Corporation and the Westinghouse mills.

These firms will disburse more than $2,000,000 among 35,000 workmen in Homestead, Braddock and East Pittsburgh. The regular pay day would be next Saturday.

Representatives of the Temperance league, organized by Rev. William Sunday, went through the mills and urged the men to stay away from saloons. Company officials are encouraging this work.

The industrial plants will be shut down at midnight tomorrow and will be idle twenty-four hours.

FLIES FROM AFRICA TO ROME

Aviator Completes Long Flight That Carried Him Over Sea.

Rome, Dec. 23.—Roland G. Garros, the French aviator, completed his long flight from Tunis, Africa.

Garros, after a splendid flight from Tunis on Dec. 18, landed at Trapani, Sicily, a distance of about 160 miles, over the Mediterranean sea. He left Trapani Saturday and flew to the Italian mainland. Sunday he continued his flight, stopping at Naples for his lunch.

Favorable weather enabled Garros to cover the last stage of his journey at great speed. He landed at Rome, only an hour and a half before he was expected. In making the landing the aeroplane was slightly damaged,
but Garros was not hurt.

THIEF STEALS BURIAL BOX

Crimina's Invasion of Cemetery Holes
Up Baby's Funeral.

Hazleton, Pa., Dec. 23.—The most unusual theft reported here for years occurred when the burial of Harry Casagrande, two-months old boy, was delayed because, when the cortez reached the Tyrolean cemetery, it was discovered that the rough box had been stolen. The ceremony was suspended until Undertaker Best could get another box.

Tries Suicide Rather Than Stay King.

Rome, Dec. 23.—The Gornale D'A publishes a sensational story to the effect that a young anarchist, Henry Dal Ferro, of San Giovanni, in Perugia, near Bologna, who was designated by lot to assassinate King Victor Emmanuel, attempted to commit suicide rather than carry out his mission. Ferro, says the paper, is now in a hospital in a serious condition.

Inauguration Chairman Chosen.
New York, Dec. 23.—William Corcoran Eustis, of Washington, was selected chairman of the inaugural committee, which will have charge of Woodrow Wilson's inauguration. He is a brother of the late Senator Eustis, of Louisiana.

ONE XMAS TREE FOR ALL

Rich and Poor Will Gather Around 63
Foot Giant in New York.
New York, Dec. 23.—Father Knickerbocker was presented with his first real Christmas tree by Mrs. J. B. F.
Herreshoff and Stuart Webb, the railroad man.

After a score of carpenters had labored all day with derricks, the huge tree was finally reared in the center of Madison square.

It has the distinction of being the tallest Christmas tree—sixty-three feet—in the world. The old habitues slumbering in the park, hardly believed their eyes when they saw this holiday gift brought in.

"It's the first time in a good many years that anyone remembered us," observed one.

It is Mrs. Herreshoff's idea that the homeless and the well-to-do shall al-gather to celebrate before one common Christmas tree, so that those without friends may share in the Yuletide spirit.

A stand is being built for a large orchestra, and a platform is being reared on which Christmas carols will be sung. The tree will be illuminated every evening during the holidays.

Modify Boy-Slayer's Guilt.

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 23.—After deliberating for twenty-six hours the jury in the case of J. Frank Hickey, on trial for the murder of seven year old Joseph Josephs, of Lackawanna, Oct.
12, 1911, brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree.

General Brown Dead.

New York, Dec. 23.—Brigadier General Justus Morris Brown, U. S. A.
retired, who for more than forty years saw service as a surgeon, is dead at his home, 303 Summit avenue, Hackensack, N. J.

Courts of Love.

"Courts of love" were established in the middle ages, when chivalry was at its height and love the serious occupation of life among the higher class of society. The first "court of love" was established in the south of France in the twelfth century and was composed of knights, peers and ladies, and their decisions on subtle questions connected with affairs of the heart were given with great formality.

The German I and You.

It is surprising when any one takes the trouble to notice how many letters begin with the pronoun "I." To Germans this is egotistical, and their editette in letter writing forbids it. It is probably on the same principle that they write I (ich) always with a small letter and you (Sie) with a capital, reversing the English custom.

She Agreed.

Will—the sight of an old schoolmate is—er—well, it might be called both
meet and drink.

Bertha—Yes; that's what you men usually do in the circumstances.

"Eh?"

"Meet and drink."

HYLER'S candy is expected by your lady. Get the fresh when you want some, at Huber's Drug Store,

KEEN INTEREST
County Teachers Watching Move for Pensioning System.
Adams County teachers are keenly interested in the sixty-third session of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association, which will meet in Harrisburg Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. One reason for this interest is that many educators believe it advisable that amendments should be made to the school code, particularly to those sections dealing with the financial end of education and desire to have a part in shaping the proposed changes.

Another reason for the great interest in the gathering is that the teachers of localities which now have no pension or retirement system in association endorse some plan that will provide for a retirement fund for teachers.

The pension question has aroused much enthusiasm among the county and local teachers' associations and the result in some counties has been that practically every teacher has become a member of the State Association.

MUST MAKE RETURNS
Corporations in Adams County Must Fill out Blanks.

Collector H. L. Hershey of the Ninth Internal Revenue District which includes Adams county has mailed to each corporation in his district two blank forms on which the returns of annual net income for 1912 shall be made. Should any corporation fail to receive their blanks by January 1, 1913, they should at once notify the collector. The penalty for failure to make a return by March 1st, 1913, is fixed by law at from $1,000 to $10,000. A return is required from every corporation that is in existence, regardless of whether a profit has been made or a loss sustained. Corporations who have surrendered their charters should furnish the collector with a certificate of the Auditor-General of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg, to that effect. There are about 4,500 corporations in this district.

TO PAY BIG DEBT

Sickles' Son Promises Payment of $28,000 Debt.

Staunton Sickles, son of General Daniel E. Sickles, of New York, has promised to see that the state is reimbursed for all funds unaccounted for by his father as chairman of the New York State Monuments Commission, totaling about $28,000. An agreement was reached for the postponement of legal proceedings to recover the money. Mr. Sickles left with Deputy Attorney General Kellogg, a certified draft as part payment, and has promised to supply the balance as soon as it can be sent here from Spain, where it is said Mrs. Sickles holds considerable property. "Mr. Sickles told me," said Mr. Kellogg, "that his father lost the money in Wall Street."

MANY CARDS

Post Office Burdened with Post Cards and Small Envelopes.

While busy with a great quantity of packages and other Christmas matter the post office at Gettysburg is burdened this year more than ever before with an immense quantity of Christmas post cards and small envelopes bearing little tokens. The cards require quite a time to distribute and the little envelopes are very annoying to handle when clerks are in a hurry.

to these conjectures in the discovery of a body of a woman in the river. It was bloated beyond recognition but it was about Betty's height, and the hair was about the same color as hers. The consensus of opinion was that it was her remains; that in a fit of temporary insanity she had escaped from home and drowned herself. The sight was so awful that the parents were persuaded not to look at it. An undertaker prepared it for burial, and this brings us to the beginning of our story, which is also the end.

Persons were assembling at the Margot home to pay their last respects to the dead. The clergyman had arrived, the undertaker was going about with soft tread giving directions in a modulated voice, when a young man and woman turned a corner and caught a view of the hearse and carriages standing before the door. The lady sank on the man's bosom with a gasp; but, recovering, the two pursued their way to the house of the funeral. The clergyman was mentioning some lovely traits of the deceased when the chief mourners uttered an exclamation of surprise and made a holler for the hall, where stood the newcomers.

"Oh, Betty!" exclaimed both father and mother in a breath. The obsequies were discontinued on account of the appearance of the object for which they were held, and a great relief, a great joy, reigned in their stead. This was Betty's explanation:

"George met me when I was a schoolgirl, and we loved. Then that horrid Kate Baxter came between us, and for a long while I was afraid she'd get him away from me. But one day he wrote me that she had been telling lies about me, and I concluded to go and give her a piece of my mind. The result was that George and I thought we'd better be married. So here we are."

The doctor's diagnosis of the case was, "The insanity of juvenile love."

MR. FARMER, GET WISE, ADVERTISE.

Seventy-five per cent of the advertisers in the London (O.) Democrat are farmers.

They are wise to the quickest, easiest way to get out of trade, to keep goods moving out and the cash coming in.

No, Mr. Farmer, advertising wasn't invented for the exclusive use of the town merchant to boom business any more than you were born to stand in a curbstone market and freeze off your nose and toes waiting for customers to meander along to buy your butter and eggs at any old price.

The prosperous merchant smiles when some fellow with cobwebs on his cerebellum asks, "Does advertising pay?" With him it's the sine qua non.

Men who fail in business are often blamed for lack of business capacity when it is simply lack of advertising sagacity.

The farmer who advertises in a good medium and backs his ad. with a square deal has a cinch.

People do not buy calico, shoes, stoves and paint every day, but every day they must have eats.

The farmer feeds the nation.

The people depend on him for bread, and there are always empty stomachs and empty pantry shelves for him to fill.

With such continuous demand for his product why should the farmer travel in that same old rut to market or trade his products at the crossroads store or get gold brickled by the city middleman when an advertisement will bring him into quick communication with his customer, build up a bon ton private trade, give him higher prices and save him so much time, wear and tear?

The modern newspaper is a business miracle worker, and it not only works wonders for the town merchant, but for the farmer as well.
